The exhibition examines how distinct objects, materials, and ideas can coexist within one universe, how individuality and contrast can lead to a new sense of unity. Rather than seeking harmony, the exhibition reveals how tension, rhythm, and continuous motion between works can shape unexpected relationships.

Bringing together designers, studios, and brands, the exhibition unfolds as a curated universe of material explorations, functional design, and artistic expression. Each piece stands on its own, yet contributes to an overall composition that unfolds through texture, tactility, and placement.
